Project Manager from Ernst Remod Attends National PowerMeeting

Hendersonville, Tennessee, November 8, 2007: Stacy Walker, Project Manager for Ernst Remod, recently attended the Production Manager PowerMeeting, a two day business management seminar exclusively for owners and production managers of large-volume remodeling companies held in Atlanta, GA October 29th & 30th, 2007.

During the PowerMeeting, Walker joined over 50 other Project Managers to attend educational sessions on developing more efficient production systems, effective hiring practices, computerized scheduling as well as procedures to keep the client more comfortable and better informed during their remodeling.

The PowerMeeting program is the only program of its kind dedicated exclusively to the role of the Project Manager in a remodeling company and is held yearly. Walker says, "The opportunity to network and share crucial information with my peers has been invaluable. Plus, I was challenged to think about my role in the company and I've gained strategic information on how I can improve my management skills to deliver our products on time and on budget and leave our clients absolutely delighted."

Ernst Remod is a design-build remodeler serving the Middle Tennessee area. Their commitment to providing consistent and comprehensive personal service with each project from inception to completion makes them unrivaled in the market. The passion in which their entire team involves itself with each client experience is the difference people see when choosing ErnstHomes.
